Introduction to Bihar State Vegetable Processing and Marketing Scheme

Bihar has abundant natural agricultural resources with fertile Gangetic plains. The state has consistently ranked among the top five vegetable-producing states. However, vegetable mandis are unorganized, and vegetables are perishable commodities, resulting in high perishability and low returns for farmers. The main reason for the distorted structure of the Vegetable Value Chain is the lack of operational facilities and inefficient supply chain infrastructure, leading to low returns for farmers. The Government of Bihar has launched a scheme for the marketing and trading of vegetables to address these issues. The scheme is called the Bihar State Vegetable Processing and Marketing Scheme. Its main objective is to establish coordination between vegetable producers and consumers through cooperative societies. The aim of the scheme is to ensure remunerative prices for vegetable producers and to make vegetables available to consumers at competitive rates.

Vegetable Processing and Marketing Cooperative Federation

The Vegetable Processing and Marketing Cooperative Federation, at the apex level, will provide professional leadership and coordinate the activities of various unions. It will ensure the integration of forward and backward linkages, establish market linkages at various levels, and work on capacity building, human resource development, and improved environmental management. The integration of the three-tier system will be done through appropriate mechanisms and hardware interventions to ensure smooth and organized functioning.

Three Tier Model - VEGFED

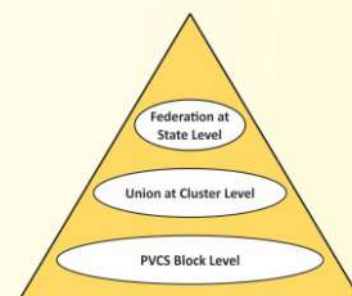

The scheme will be implemented through a three-tier cooperative structure constituted under the Bihar Co-operative Societies Registration Act, 1935. The structure includes:

1. Level 1- Block Level - Primary Vegetable Growers Cooperative Society.
2. Level 2 - Cluster Level - Vegetable Processing & Marketing Co-operative Union.
3. Level 3 - State Level - Vegetable Processing & Marketing Federation.

The model will manage the production, marketing, and processing of vegetables grown by Bihar's farmers

Specific objectives of the scheme are:

- Making vegetable supply chain more efficient
- Reducing post-harvest losses
- Adding Value to the vegetables sectors
- Bridging the gap between demand and supply in the vegetable sector
- Introducing improved production methods to increase productivity and farmer's income
- Providing extension services and technology handholding support to vegetable growers
- Creating better employment opportunities in the vegetable sector
